

HIV-RISK BEHAVIOR AMONG LESBIANS AND BISEXUAL WOMEN

Lena Einhorn and Michael Polgar

Although limited available data suggest that AIDS is currently less common among lesbians than among heterosexual women, this study suggests considerable HIV-risk behavior among our sample of lesbians and bisexual women. In addition, a majority of respondents, including women at risk, do not use safer-sex practices.